PREFACE.

IN firſt announcing the deſign of a Bibliographical Cyclopædia, the compiler was under the impreſſion that one volume would comprehend both an alphabet of Authors, with an account of their works, and a ſyſtematic arrangement of Subjects, with references to the beſt authors who have written on them. As the alphabet of Authors proceeded, it became obvious that an entire volume would be requiſite for the authors and their works alone. This has been accompliſhed in the volume publiſhed in 1854; not without the neceſſity, even in that enlarged form, of leaving out much that might advantageouſly have been added, and which might reaſonably have been expected, but for the neceſſity of limiting the work to certain bounds. In commencing the publication of the Subjects, the extent to which the work ought to be carried in order to its deſign being ſatisfactorily carried out, became ſtill more apparent, and therefore the compiler determined to bring it out in diviſions, each diviſion forming a volume complete in itſelf, ſo that the purchaſer might have a complete book, without being under the neceſſity to take more than one, if inconvenient.

The reſult of that determination is the preſent publication, which conſequently has been carried through the preſs with leſs fear of its exceeding the preſcribed bounds. It is therefore hoped that no conſiderable omiſſions will be found in the treatment of the important ſubjects which it embraces.

The great aim in this volume is to point out the authors who have written in illuſtration of any or all of the books, chapters, and verses of THE HOLY SCRIPTURES. It is limited to no ſect; the contributions of all denominations will be found here referred to. It is limited to no nation; Engliſh, French, Italian, German, and other nations are, in a greater or leſs degree, here repreſented; nor is it limited to any time, authors from the earlieſt to the lateſt period are here ranged under each head in chronological order.

As it is contemplated that books in the whole range of human knowledge may be ultimately embraced in the work now commenced, the volume is initiated by a ſhort account of the Bibliography, Dictionaries and Encyclopædias of Univerſal Knowledge, enumerating them to a very limited extent, and introducing them chiefly to ſhow that in exact bibliography they cannot be placed under any ſubordinate head, inaſmuch as they comprehend all. In compliance, however, with general cuſtom, an article will be appropriated to theſe heads ſhould the work be ſo fortunate as to proceed ſo far, where the ſubjects will be treated more at length. Introductory works on Theology then follow, on its bibliography and ſtudy, the Encyclopædias, Dictionaries, and Syſtems. The chief part of the volume is then devoted to the Holy Scriptures, introductions to the ſtudy of the Sacred Volume, directions for reading it, its authenticity, authority, truth, inſpiration, excellency, ſtyle, interpretation, an account of the original texts, the various languages into which it has been tranſlated, the commentaries and other works which have been written on the whole Bible, and on the various books, chapters, and verſes in the order of Scripture; the work concludes with Scripture Prophecy, types and figures, promiſes, biblical antiquities, ſacred geography, natural hiſtory, chronology, hiſtory, biography, &c.

On the verſes of Scripture the chief references are to ſermons; theſe, although ſometimes treating a verſe only as a motto, yet in general the writers on a particular text are more ſatisfactory than the writers of commentaries, as they neceſſarily give more attention to its various aſpects, and, by enlarging upon it, develope more fully its meaning. If Lord Bacon could ſay in his time that "if the choice and beſt obſervations which have been made diſperſedly in our Engliſh ſermons had been ſet down in a continuance, it would be the beſt work in divinity that hath been ſince the Apoſtles' time," how much more could he have ſaid ſo now, after the labours of the great divines who have appeared in the two centuries and a half that have intervened ſince that time? The late Rev. Edward Bickerſteth, in his "Chriſtian Student," ſays, "An Index of all the texts on which ſermons have been publiſhed to the preſent time is wanted. Cooke's edition of Letſome's Preacher's Aſſiſtant is now ſcarce and dear, yet it was publiſhed fifty years ſince, did not contain many older ſermons and treatiſes, and might now be advantageouſly enlarged by ſubſequent works." Mr. Bickerſteth alſo ſays, "A work of reference to books on ſubjects in religion, ſuch as is comprehended in the ſecond part of Watt's Bibliotheca, and Wilkins' liſt in his Gift of Preaching, only more minute, referring not merely to books, but to the pages where the ſubjects are treated, would much facilitate ſtudies on particular parts of Theology."

Theſe deſiderata and others it is the deſign of the preſent work to ſatisfy. The illuſtrations are referred to that have been given of the various verſes of Scripture by the Fathers of the Church, the Middle-age writers, the Reformers, and the principal authors downwards to the preſent time, with the volume and page where they are to be found. The editions are generally thoſe ſpecified in the Cyclopædia Bibliographica, Authors. Thus a ready reference may be obtained to what has been brought to bear on any paſſage by the eloquent St. Baſil, St. Chryſoſtom, Jeremy Taylor, Boſſuet, Bourdaloue, Maſſillon, and Saurin; the imaginative Thomas Adams, Fuller and Seed; the witty South; the ſilver-tongued Bates; the profound Jackſon, Owen, and Charnock; the perſuaſive Hopkins, Baxter, Patrick; the argumentative Butler, Clarke, Jortin, Balguy; the comprehenſive Manton, Barrow; the exact Tillotſon; the primitive Beveridge; the judicious Hooker, Sanderſon; the practical Henry Smith, Bolton, and Secker, and their numerous, no leſs eminent, contemporaries and ſucceſſors. The ſubjects which theſe great men, as well as the leſs prominent authors, have evolved from the texts they have choſen for elucidation, which are given at length when they themſelves ſtate them, and therefore only in their own words, may be made very ſuggeſtive by all who follow them in the ſame ſtudies; thus, by the array of ſubjects preſented in this volume, a kind of running commentary may be obtained throughout the whole Scriptures, clear ſtatements of the chief points of doctrine and fact, and happy expreſſions of thought, throwing direct light on many difficult paſſages. The predominate teaching, and deficiencies of teaching, of different churches, may in ſome degree be aſcertained. It is for inſtance remarkable, that from ſome denominations of Chriſtians no printed ſermon has emanated on the ſubject of Baptiſm; ſome ſermons from them may be found on the controverſy about infant-baptiſm, but none on the nature, advantages, and reſponſibilities of that ſacrament,—the ordinance which was the ſubject of our Lord's laſt charge immediately before His aſcenſion into heaven. The relative importance of texts is alſo often indicated by the relative number of celebrated ſermons founded upon them, and in thoſe caſes where there is ſome difficulty which Biblical commentators have not fully explained, the ſtudent's attention is directed to thoſe fuller expoſitions afforded by pulpit diſcourſes. Above all, the earneſt preacher, deſirous to bring forth from his ſtorehouſe things new and old, is here directed to the valuable labours of his predeceſſors on any verſe which he may chooſe, and thus he is enabled to improve on all that has hitherto been done for the elucidation of Divine truth, producing the "true antiquity" of Lord Bacon, by adding ſomething to the labours of paſt times.

Bibliographical arrangements of ſubjects, hitherto, with the exception of ſermons, have chiefly been limited to thoſe of books which have been ſeparately publiſhed in diſtinct volumes, ſo that thoſe valuable treatiſes publiſhed only in collected works find no place under the ſubjects to which they belong. By the plan of this work, following the analyſis of each author's works given in the former volume, each diſtinct treatiſe will be found under its appropriate ſubject. The italics at the end of each article denote the title of the publication of which it forms a part; the numerals that follow denote the page or volume; or when two ſeparate numbers are given, the firſt denotes the volume, and the ſecond the page. The title of any book referred to, with ſome account and character of the author, will generally be found more at large in the Cyclopædia Bibliographica, Authors. Authors introduced into the preſent volume for the firſt time will be given in a ſucceeding volume. When any article forms a ſeparate publication, the italics at the end of the line denote the place where printed, and the numerals the date of publication. Under each ſubject, book, chapter, or verſe, authors are arranged in chronological order, not with any attempt at very minute exactneſs, but generally ſufficient to ſhow the ſucceſſion of writers.

Numerous works have been conſulted for the preſent volume, but ſpecial uſe has been made of the following: the "Bibliotheca Sacra" of Le Long (the complete edition, containing his ample bibliography of commentators, 2 vol. folio, 1723), the "Bibliothèque Sacrée" of Calmet, annexed to his "Dictionnaire de la Bible," a moſt impartial, enlightened, and learned work; the "Catalogue of our Engliſh Writers on the Old and New Teſtament," 1668, although the looſe manner in which titles are given rendered its uſe only ſuggeſtive; Gul. Crowe, "Elenchus Scriptorum in S. Scripturam," 1672, of which the ſame may alſo, in ſome meaſure, be ſaid; the Index to the Sermons publiſhed ſince the Reſtoration, as ſucceſſively enlarged by Letſome, 1753, and Cooke, 1783, in their "Preacher's Aſſiſtant," 2 vol. 8°.; "The Britiſh Librarian," by the late W. T. Lowndes, a moſt uſeful work, unfortunately left incomplete by the death of the author. Above all, conſtant uſe has been made of the valuable "Biblical Bibliography" of the Rev. Thomas Hartwell Horne, D.D., 8°. Lond. 1839, and forming part of his Introduction to the Study of the Scriptures, ninth edition, 1846, and former editions, — the moſt complete account of works illuſtrative of the Scriptures which has appeared in modern times, and full of moſt important bibliographical details.

The compiler has again to acknowledge the candid appreciation of his labours by the conductors of the literary journals, particularly the editors of the "Literary Churchman," the "Chriſtian Remembrancer," "Notes and Queries," and the "Journal of Sacred Literature;" alſo to the writer of the extended review, in the "London Review," of the former as well as the preſent volume; the extenſive bibliographical information, and the intereſting manner of ſetting it forth, evinced in that article, with the nice diſcrimination, where "nothing is extenuated, nor aught ſet down in malice," exhibit rare talent in this important branch of literature. To this review the compiler acknowledges himſelf indebted for ſeveral uſeful hints.

Another volume ſimilar to the preſent will include the remaining ſubjects of Theology, under the title of "The Church, &c." It will include LITURGIES and Liturgical Works — the Feſtivals, Faſts, and other days obſerved throughout the year. COUNCILS — Canons. CHURCH — Government, Diſcipline, Creeds, Confeſſions. NATURAL AND REVEALED RELIGION. DOCTRINAL THEOLOGY — Syſtems, the Exiſtence and Attributes of the Deity; the Holy Trinity; Jeſus Chriſt, his Divinity, Incarnation, Sacrifice, Atonement, Reſurrection, &c.; the Holy Spirit, his Divinity, Operations, &c.; Angels; the Soul; Creation, Fall, and Redemption of Man; the Covenants, Faith, Juſtification, Free-will, Predeſtination; the Sabbath and the Lord's Day; the Sacraments, Baptiſm, Confirmation; the Lord's Supper; Death, Intermediate State; the Second Advent, Reſurrection, Future State. PRACTICAL DIVINITY — Syſtems, the Chriſtian Life; Happineſs; Conſcience, and Caſes of Conſcience; the true

Chriſtian; Duties in the various relations of Life; Meditations, Prayers, Myſtical Divinity, Sickneſs, Conſolatory Treatiſes. POLEMICAL DIVINITY—on the Inveſtigation of Truth, Controverſy, Freethinking, Atheiſm, Deiſm, Judaiſm, Ancient Hereſies; Controverſies between Proteſtants and Roman Catholics; Socinianiſm, Arminianiſm, Calviniſm. HEATHEN THEOLOGY AND MYTHOLOGY—Brahminiſm, Mahometaniſm, &c.

This volume will be ready for the press in a few months, but its publication will be greatly facilitated by the encouragement that may be given to it, by an increaſed number of ſubſcribers' names being received by the publiſher, either for the parts as publiſhed, or for the entire volume when completed.

Moſt of the books referred to in this work may be conſulted in the Britiſh Muſeum, arrangements having been made to ſell to that inſtitution all the books of the late Metropolitan Library that were not previouſly in the Muſeum. That Library having contained the greater part of them.

SUBJECTS.

UNIVERSAL KNOWLEDGE.

GENERAL BIBLIOGRAPHY.

See, also, under LITERATURE.

Gesner, Conrad. Bibliotheca universalis. Folio. Tiguri, 1545

— Pandectarum, sive partitionum universalium C. Gesneri libri xxi. seu Bibliothecæ tomus secundus. 2 parts in 1 vol. Fol. Tig. 1548–9

A valuable work, for the period in which it was published: the Bibliotheca contains the authors in alphabet, with the titles of their works; the Pandectæ contain the works of authors, arranged according to subjects; the Pandectæ Medicinæ (liber 20) never appeared.

— Bibliotheca, aucta per J. Simlerum. Folio. Tiguri, 1574

An abridgment of the former Bibliotheca. It was first published 1555, reprinted with further additions, but incorrectly, Tiguri, 1583.

Koenig, G. M. Bibliotheca vetus et nova. [Authorum patria, ætas, nomina, libri, &c.] Folio. Altd. 1678

Lipenius, Martin. Bibliotheca realis theologica, 2 vol. folio, 1685; Juridica, fol. 1679; Philosophica, 2 vol. folio, 1682; Medica, folio, 1679. In all 6 vol. Folio. 1679–85

These Bibliothecæ are called "real," because they are arranged alphabetically under subjects, and not under authors. The Bibliotheca Juridica was reprinted, Lipsi. 1757, with additions by Struvius, 2 vol. folio. To which supplements were added in 1775, 1789, 1816–20, 1823, and 1830.

De mandato et ſumptibus Cardinalis Franciſci Ximenis de Ciſneros. 6 vol. Folio.

In Complutenſi Univerſitate, 1514–15–17

This ſplendid Polyglott, the firſt that was publiſhed, and generally known as the Complutenſian, was executed by the order, and at the expenſe (50,000 ducats), of Cardinal Ximenes, at Alcala, in Spain.

The editors were Ælius Antonius Nebriſſenſis, Demetrius Ducas, Ferdinandus Pincianus, Lopez de Stunica, Alphonſus de Zamora, Paulus Coronellus, and Johannes de Vergera. The laſt three were converted Jews.

The whole was carried on under the conſtant ſuperintendence of Cardinal Ximenes. The printing was commenced in 1502, and completed in 1517; but the work was not publiſhed until 1522. Thus the Greek New Teſtament was printed for the firſt time in it, although the edition by Eraſmus was the firſt that was publiſhed. The Septuagint has the advantage of being printed conformably to the order of the Hebrew. Copies of this great work are of very rare occurrence. The impreſſion was limited to 600. Dr. Whitaker's copy in calf, ſold for 67*l.* at Sotheby's, 1857.

Three copies are known to exiſt printed on vellum, of which one was placed in the Royal Library at Madrid; another in the Royal Library at Turin; the third was purchaſed at the Pinelli ſale, 1789, for Count M'Carthy, for 483*l.*; at whoſe ſale, in 1817, it was bought by Mr. Hibbert for 16,100 francs; and again at his ſale, 1829, by Payne and Foſs, for 525*l.*

The firſt four volumes contain the Old Teſt. in Heb. Latin, and Greek, in three diſtinct columns, the Chaldee paraphraſe being at the bottom of the page, with a Latin interpretation. The margin is filled with Hebrew and Chaldee radicals. The 5th vol. contains the New Teſt. in Greek, with the Latin Vulgate, and in the margin a concordance.

Edited by B. Arias Montanus.

Generally known as the Antwerp or Royal Polyglott. It is beautifully printed, and of conſiderable rarity, a great part of the impreſſion having been loſt in a voyage to Spain. In addition to the whole of the Complutenſian Polyglott, it contains a Chaldee paraphraſe of part of the Old Teſtament not given in that edition; alſo a Syriac verſion of the New Teſtament, and the Latin tranſlation of Pagninus, as reviſed by Montanus. 500 copies were printed. Sir M. Sykes' copy ſold for 31*l.* 10*s.*

This Polyglott, edited by Le Jay, although very beautifully printed, is not much in demand. Its large ſize renders it ſo inconvenient for uſe that it found few purchaſers when publiſhed, and its editor was ruined by it. In addition to the contents of the Complutenſian and Antwerp Polyglotts, it contains a Syriac and Arabic verſion of the greater part of the Old Teſtament, and of the whole of the New. The Samaritan Pentateuch, with a Samaritan verſion, was printed in it for the firſt time. Le Jay was aſſiſted by Philippus Aquinas, Jacobus Morinus, Abraham Ecchellenſis, Gabriel Sionata, and J. Heſronite. Some copies were iſſued with a new title, viz., "Biblia Alexandrina Heptaglotta, Par. 1666."

Pagnini: acceſſit Bibliorum pars quæ Hebraice non reperitur: item Novum Teſtamentum, Græce, cum Vulgata interpretatione Lat. interlineari; ſtudio B. A. Montani. Folio. Antv. C. Plantinus, 1572

This is a ſeparate publication of the ſeventh volume of the Antwerp Polyglott. It was reprinted by Plantin in 1584, with the addition of the Apocrypha in Greek and Latin interlineary. Other editions were printed in folio at Geneva, 1609 (or with another title-page, 1619), and at Leipſic (with a preface, by the Theologians of that city), 1657; alſo, in 4 vol. 8°. Lugd. Bat. 1599, and 1610–13. The two editions by Plantin are beautifully printed, and very rare.

Biblia Heb., majuſculis characteris impreſſa, quibus radicales et ſerviles, deficientes et quiescentes ſitu et colore diſcernuntur, cura Eliæ Hutteri. Folio. Hamb. 1587–88

The plan adopted in printing this edition is ingenious and uſeful, eſpecially to young ſtudents. All the ſervile letters are in outline only, the reſt are black, by which the radicals are at once ſeen. The volume generally contains alſo "Cubus Alphabeticus Ebrææ Linguæ, vel Lexici Hebraici novum compendium."

— ſine punctis. 2 vol. 24°. Hanov. 1610

Very ſmall print.

A beautiful, correct, and rare edition.

— cum punctis: accedit R. Jacob præfatio et commentarius. 2 vol. 4°. Venet. 5399 (1639)

Eſteemed and rare.

— cum punctis, opera et ſtudio J. G. Nisselii. Sm. 8°. L. Bat. 1662

Very ſmall print, with the titles of the books and chapters in Latin.

— accuratiſſima, notis Hebraicis et lemmatibus Latinis, illuſtrata à Joanne Leusden. 8°. Amſt. J. Athias, 1667

The firſt edition by Athias appeared in 1661. Both are well edited.

— cum punctis: item cum notis Hebraicis, et lemmatibus Latinis, ex recenſ. D. E. Jablonski, cum ejus præfatione Latina. 4°. Berol. 1699

One of the moſt important, correct, and rare editions of the Hebrew Bible. The ſame editor publiſhed an edition, without points, in 4 parts, 32°. with a ſhort Latin preface.

— cum punctis et comment. Raſci, ſeu R. Sim. Jarchi, ſtudio Dav. Nunnes Torres. 4 vol. in 2. 12°. Amſt. 1700–5

— ſine punctis; notis Maſoretarum quæ Kri et Krif appellant inſtructa, ad Leuſdenianam editionem adornata. 12°. Amſt. 1701

— ſecundum ultimam editionem Joſ. Athiæ, à J. Leuſden, denuo recognitam, recenſita, atque ad Maſoram, et correctiores, Bombergi, Stephani, Plantini, aliorumque editiones; exquiſite adornata, variiſque notis illuſtrata ab E. Van der Hooght. 2 vol. 8°. Amſt. 1705

A very accurate and elegant edition, much ſought after. It may be conſidered to be the textus receptus of the Heb. Bible, as it has been followed in nearly all ſubſequent editions.

Biblia Hebraica, cum optimis impreſſis et MSS. collata et recenſita, ſtudio Henr. Opitii. 4°. Kilonii, 1709

Novum Teſtamentum, Gr. et Lat. In academia Complutenſi noviter impreſſum. Folio. 1514

This was the firſt printed Greek Teſtament, but not the firſt publiſhed, as it was not iſſued until 1520. It forms the fifth volume of the Complutenſian Polyglott.

— omne, diligenter ab Erasmo Roterodamo recognitum et emendatum [Gr. et Lat.], cum annotationibus. 2 vol. in 1. Folio. Baſil. 1516

The firſt publiſhed edition of the Greek Teſtament, very rare and much ſought after. Title and preliminary matter, Ff. 14; the Goſpels and Acts, Pp. 1–324; Rom. to Rev., Pp. 1–224; Notes, Pp. 225–672 [676]; Errata, F. 1; Regiſter, &c., F. 1, the latter often wanting.

Reprinted, folio, Baſil. 1519.

Preliminary matter, Pp. 120; Nov. Teſt., Pp. 566; Errata, &c., F. 1.

In this edition the text is reviſed and corrected in 330 paſſages.

Sykes' ſale, in mor., 10*l.* 10*s.*; Hibbert, 4*l.* 4*s.*

A third ed. "Tertio jam ac diligentius ab Eraſmo recognitum." The text, 1 John, v. 7, firſt appears in it. 2 vol. in 1, folio, Baſil. 1522.

Sykes, 4*l.* 4*s.*; Hibbert, 3*l.*

A fourth edition, 2 vol. in 1, folio, Baſil. 1527.

In this ed. the Latin Vulgate is added in a third column, and the Greek text is corrected from the Complutenſian Polyglott.

A fifth edition, folio, Baſil. 1535.

This is the laſt that was ſuperintended by Eraſmus himſelf, and it is the moſt correct of his valuable editions, which in authority are conſidered nearly equal to manuſcript. The firſt three are the moſt rare. They are elegantly printed. The work appeared in a complete and correct manner, in the ſixth volume of Eraſmus' works, L. Bat. 1703, of which ſome copies were printed with a ſeparate title.

Nov. Teſt., Gr. [cum præfatione] N. Gerbelii. Sm. 4°. Hagenoæ, 1521

A rare ed. It is chiefly a compilation from the firſt two editions of Eraſmus and the Aldine. Reprinted 1524 at Baſle.

— Gr. 8°. Argent. Cephalæus, 1524

This forms the fourth volume to the Septuagint by the ſame printer. It follows the edition of Gerbelius.

— Gr. 8°. Par. S. Colinæus, 1534

An edition of ſingular rarity, beauty, and correctneſs. The text is formed in part on the Complutenſian, and in part on the fourth edition of Eraſmus, corrected on the authority of many good manuſcripts. According to Harwood, it exhibits the trueſt text of the ſacred writers that had up to this time been publiſhed.

— Gr. 2 vol. Sm. 8°. Venet. N. de Sabio, 1538

A rare edition, formed on one of Eraſmus.

— Gr. et Lat. 8°. Par. Bogardus, 1543

An excellent edition.

— Gr. ex Bibliotheca Regia. 2 vol. in 1. 16°. Par. R. Stephanus, 1546

A beautiful edition, chiefly from the Complutenſian, and a collation of MSS. It is known as the "O mirificam" edition, owing to the preface commencing in that manner.

Reprinted, 2 vol. in 16°. Par. R. Stephanus, 1549.

Contains ſome improvements on the former, and is very correct. It is known by a miſprint of pulres inſtead of plures in the laſt line but one of the firſt page of the preface.

— Gr. ex Bibliotheca Regia. Folio. Lut. R. Stephanus, 1550

A ſplendid and critical edition, which has juſtly excited the admiration of the curious and the learned, although it has not eſcaped the cenſure of Bentley, who ſays, that "although the text ſtands as if an apoſtle had been its compoſitor, its errors are numerous." It contains various readings in the margin from ſixteen MSS., and the text has been eſteemed ſo correct, that it has formed the baſis of Walton, Mill, and of moſt ſubſequent editions.

— Gr. cum duplici interpretatione D. Eraſmi et veteris interpretis, [illegible] evangelica et copioſo indice. 16°. Ex Officina R. Stephani, 1551

An edition of great intereſt and rarity, being the firſt that was divided into verſes.

— Gr. cum interlineari interpretatione Latina. Bibl. Heb. Montani

— Gr. 12°. L. Bat. Elzevir, 1624

This is the firſt of the celebrated Elzevir editions. It is beautifully and correctly printed, chiefly after the text of Stephens's ed. of 1550. Having been followed in all editions for above a hundred years afterwards, it has acquired the name of the textus receptus. It was reprinted 1633, edited by Leuſden (equally celebrated and more ſought after); alſo 1641 (of which there was a counterfeit, diſtinguiſhable by having the text divided into columns). At Amſt. 1656, 1662 (much eſteemed), 1670 and 1678. All in 12°.

— Gr. ex regiis aliiſque optimis editionibus cum cura expreſſum. 32°. Sedani, J. Jannon, 1628

One of the ſmalleſt in ſize ever printed, and very ſcarce.

The ſame edition is found with a change of title-pages dated Leipſ. 1723, and Amſt. 1746. Although it is neither ſo beautiful nor correct as Mill's own edition, it is ſometimes preferred for the additions it contains.

— Gr. edited by Dr. WELLS.

See under "Commentaries on the Bible." It exhibits a corrected text.

— Gr. poſt priores S. Curcellæi, tum et DD. Oxonienſium labores; quibus parallela Scripturæ loca, nec non variantes lectiones ex plus c. MSS. codd. et antiquis verſionibus collectæ, exhibentur, &c. Sm. 8°.

Reprinted 1735. Uſeful editions.

— Gr. ita adornatum, ut textus probatarum editionum medullam, margo variantium lectionum in ſuas claſſes diſtributarum locorumque parallelorum delectum, apparatus ſubjunctus Criſeos Sacræ, Millianæ præſertim, compendium, limam, ſupplementum ac fructum exhibeat; inſerviente J. A. BENGELIO. 4°. Tub. 1734

An excellent edition; the text is not formed on any particular one, but is corrected and improved according to the editor's judgment, with an extraordinary degree of conſcientiouſneſs, ſound diſcrimination, and good taſte.

Reprinted at Tubingen 1763, edited by Burk, with important corrections and additions. Several ſmall editions, without the Apparatus, were publiſhed: viz., at Stutgard, 1734, 1739, 1753; at Tubingen, 1762, 1776, 1790; and at Leipſic, 1737, in 8°.

— In Greek and Engliſh, with notes and various readings [by W. MACE, M.D.] 2 vol. 8°. Lond. 1729

In this edition the editor has altered various paſſages according to the Arian hypotheſis. Michaelis has ſeverely cenſured it.

Twells, L. D.D. A critical examination of the late new text and verſion of the New Teſtament [Mace]. Wherein the editor's corrupt text, falſe verſion, and fallacious notes, are detected and cenſured. 3 parts in 1 vol. 8°. Lond. 1731–32

— Sm. 8°. Glaſg. R. Urie, 1750

An elegant edition.

— Græcum, editionis receptæ, cum lectionibus variantibus codicum MSS. editionum aliarum, verſionum et patrum, nec non commentario pleniore, ex ſcriptoribus veteribus Hebræis, Græcis et Latinis, hiſtoriam et vim verborum illuſtrante, opera et ſtudio JOANNIS JACOBI WETSTENII. 2 vol. Folio. Amſt. 1751

All former editions were ſurpaſſed by this, and it ſtill continues to be the moſt important, and the moſt neceſſary to thoſe engaged in ſacred criticiſm. A new edition was commenced by Dr. Lotze, but in conſequence of his death, only one volume was publiſhed, royal 4°. Rotterd. 1831, containing the prolegomena, much improved.

Nov. Teſt., Gr. cura P. H. GOLDHAGEN. 8°. Mogunt. 1753

"Editio Catholica noviſſima." A curious and elegantly printed book, of rare occurrence.

— Gr. ex editione Wetſteniana. Sm. 4°. Glaſg. FOULIS, 1759

— Gr. juxta exemplar Millianum. 8°. and 4°. Oxonii, typis J. BASKERVILLE, 1763

Beautiful editions; the type is large, diſtinct, and without contractions.

— Gr. ex editione Wetſteniana, cum emendationibus conjecturalibus Anglice ſcriptis. 2 vol. 12°. Lond. J. BOWYER, 1763

Very correct. To ſome copies there is a preface concerning the various readings; others have, inſtead, a ſhort table of the chief editions printed after MSS. The conjectural emendations were afterwards publiſhed ſeparately, in 8°., 1772, in 4°., 1782, much enlarged, and again enlarged in 1812, 4°. The Greek New Teſt. was reprinted 1772, 2 vol. 12°., and 1782, 4°., but not ſo correctly as the firſt.

— Gr. in ſectiones diviſit, interpunctiones accuratè poſuit, et diſpoſitionem logicam adjecit C. SCHOETGENIUS, 8°. Lipſ. 1744

Beſt edition: it was ſuperintended by Grieſbach himſelf, under the patronage of the Duke of Grafton. 50 copies were printed on large paper, in 4°. (17*l.* 6*s.*, Sykes' ſale in mor.; 8*l.* 15*s.*, Dent). Reprinted at Lond. 1809, 2 vol. 8°.; and again, in 1818, 2 vol. 8°.; both handſome editions, and the latter containing improvements. The work originally appeared at Halle, 1775–71, 2 vol. 8°. Few editions have been more highly eſteemed than thoſe by Grieſbach; and, although his ſyſtem is now exploded, they ſtill rank among the chief ſtandard editions.

Martinus Augustinus Scholz. 2 vol. 4°. Lipſ. 1830–36

This edition gives the reſult of a very laborious collation of manuſcripts, relying rather on the Conſtantinopolitan than the Alexandrine. "If Scholz's text is compared with that of Grieſbach, it will be ſeen that it is a retrograde ſtep in the application of criticiſm; and thus, though he maintained a truer ſyſtem of families than Grieſbach did, yet his reſults are even leſs ſatisfactory, becauſe he applied a theory to the claſſification of authorities by which their reſpective value was preciſely reverſed."—Tregelles.

This important edition will be completed in two more parts. The text, which is printed in a beautiful, large, and diſtinct type, is formed from an examination of the collations which have been made of manuſcripts. The notes preſent much of the expoſitory teaching of ancient Chriſtendom, and of divines of the Church of England, with the reſult of modern criticiſm.

The Greek New Teſtament, edited from ancient authorities, with the various readings of all the ancient MSS., the ancient verſions, and earlier eccleſiaſtical writers, together with the Latin verſion of Jerome, from the Codex Amiatinus. By S. P. Tregelles, LL.D. 4°.

This long-expected edition is now in the preſs, and ſome portions are about to be delivered to ſubſcribers.

EDITIONS OF THE GREEK SEPTUAGINT.

The four principal ſtandard-text editions of the Septuagint Greek verſion (Complutenſian, Aldine, Vatican, and Alexandrine), together with the principal editions which are founded upon them, have been arranged as follows :—

1. Complutensian Text, 1514. Antwerp Polyglott, Gr. Lat. &c., 1569–72. Commelinus (Vatablus), folio, 1586, 1599, 1616. Wolderus, folio, 1596. Hutter, folio, 1599, Gr. Lat., &c. Paris Polyglott, folio, Gr. Lat., &c. 1645.

2. Aldine Text, 1518. Cephalæus, 8°. 1526. Hervagius, folio, 1545. Brylingerus, 8°. 1550. Wechelii hæred. folio, 1597.

3. Roman, or Vatican Text, 1587. Waltoni Polyglotta, folio, Gr. Lat. &c., 1657. Morinus, folio, Gr. Lat. 1628. Daniel, 4°. et 8°. 1653, 1665, 1683. Cluverus, 8°. 1697. Bos, 4°. 1709. Mill, 8°. 1725. Reineccius, 8°. 1730, 1757. Kirchnerus, 8°. 1759. Holmes, folio, Gr. 1798, &c. The editions printed at Oxford, 8°. 1805, 1817, &c. Valpy, 1819. L. Van Eſs, 1824. Tiſchendorf, 1850. Bagſter, 8°. 1851.

4. The Alexandrine Text, 1707–9–19–20. Breitinger, 4°. 1730–32. Reineccius, Biblia Quadrilinguia, folio, Gr. Lat. 1750. Baber, folio, 1816–27. Moſcow, 4°. Athens, 1843.

Biblia Græca ; cum verſione Latina ad verbum. Biblia Polyglotta, Complutenſi, 1514, &c.

This firſt edition of the Septuagint has the advantage of being conformed to the order of the Hebrew Bible, while other editions preſerve a different order. The Complutenſian editors have been hitherto much cenſured by the learned chiefly on this account, and charged with having corrupted the text ; but their edition has been vindicated by Michaelis, and recently by the Rev. E. W. Grinfield.

Sacræ Scripturæ Veteris Novæque omnia, Gr. Folio. Venet. in ædibus Aldi, 1518

4 folios not numbered, including title, 451 numbered, and 2 folios containing the regiſter and the Aldine anchor.

This beautiful and rare edition is printed from a collation of MSS. The New Teſt. is from Eraſmus, of 1516. 11*l.* 11*s.* Heber's ſale. There are copies on large paper. Sykes, 42*l.*; Williams, 49*l.*

Divinæ Scripturæ Veteris Novæque omnia, Gr. 4 vol. 8°. Argent. W. Cephalæus, 1526–24

Of great rarity. Sometimes bound in 5 vol. From the Aldine edition, except that the Apocryphal books are placed apart at the end of vol. 3. The New Teſtament, or fourth volume, is dated 1524. Some copies of the four volumes have titles dated 1529.

Divinæ Scripturæ Veteris ac Novi Teſtamenti omnia, innumeris locis nunc demum, et optimorum librorum collatione et doctorum virorum opera, multo quam unquam emendatiora, in lucem edita. Folio. Baſil. per J. Hervagium, 1545

With preface by Melanchthon. This correct and rare edition chiefly follows that of Cephalæus, with ſome various readings. Reprinted 1548, folio, with ornamental heads and borders at the commencement of moſt of the books of the Old Teſtament.

Biblia Græca, Gr. et Lat. 5 vol. 8°. Baſil. Brylinger, 1550

Rare. The Greek is from the Aldine edition, the Latin from the Complutenſian. Some copies have title-pages dated 1582.

Vetus Teſtamentum Græcum juxta Septuaginta, ex auctoritate Sexti V., editum ſtudio Antonii Carafæ cardinalis, cum præfatione et ſcholiis Petri Morini. Folio. Romæ, 1586

A beautiful, rare, and valuable edition. Some copies are dated 1587. Ff. 4. pp. 783. A leaf of "Corrigenda" is added in ſome copies. 3*l.* 3*s.* Heber. The following is a uſeful accompaniment to this edition :—

Vetus Teſtamentum, ſecundum LXX. Latine redditum, ex auctoritate Sixti V. [ſtudio et cura Flaminii Nobilii]. Folio. Romæ, 1587 or 1588 1*l.* 13*s.* Butler.

Vetus Teſt. Gr. et Lat., cum ſcholiis Romanæ editionis, acceſſit Novum Teſtamentum, ſtudio et labore Joannis Morini. 3 vol. Folio. Par. 1628

This is a republication of the Greek text of 1586, with the Latin verſion and notes of Nobilius, and with the addition of the New Teſtament in Greek and Latin. The verſes are diſtinguiſhed. Some copies are dated 1641. 3*l.* 11*s.* Hibbert.

Divinæ Scripturæ nempe Veteris ac Novi Teſtamenti omnia, Gr. recens à viro doctiſſimo et linguarum peritiſſimo diligenter recognita. Fol. Franc. Wechelii Hæredes, 1597

An eſteemed edition. Edited by Francis Junius, or Frederic Sylburgius. The text is from the edition of Hervagius, 1545, with various readings from the Complutenſian, Antwerp, Straſburg, and Roman editions. The New Teſtament is from R. Stephens' ed. of 1550.

Vetus Teſt. Gr. ex verſione Septuaginta interpretum. In S. Biblia Græca ſcholia, ſimul et interpretum cæterorum lectiones variantes. Nov. Teſt. Gr. Sm. 4°. Lond. Roger Daniel, 1653

A correct and elegant edition, in which the Septuagint is arranged according to the order of the Hebrew.

— præcedit præfatio J. P. [Joannis Pearsoni] ;

additis Deutero-canonicis ac Novo Teſtamento. 3 vol. 12°. Cantab. J. Field, 1665

This ſmall, neat, and correct edition of the Septuagint, follows that of Daniel. The Liturgy of the Church of England in Greek was printed uniformly by the ſame printer.

A counterfeit, but inferior edition, was executed by John Hayes at Cambridge, 1684, under Field's name, and the date of 1665.

Vet. Teſt. juxta exemplar Vaticanum. 12°. Amſt. 1683

A reprint of Field's edition, with Pearſon's preface, ſometimes attributed to Leuſden.

— juxta exemplar Vaticanum, acceſſit Novum Teſtamentum [cura M. J. Cluveri et T. Klumpfii]. 2 vol. 8°. Lipſ. 1697

An edition eſteemed for its correctneſs, and the excellent prolegomena of Frickius "De variis Græcis Bibliorum Editionibus."

— ex antiquiſſimo MS. Codice Alexandrino deſcriptum, cura et ſtudio J. E. Grabe. 4 vol. in 2. Folio. Oxonii, 1707–9–19–20

Or 8 vol. 8°. being the ſame edition printed off in that ſize.

A beautiful edition, exhibiting the text of the Alexandrine MS. in the Britiſh Muſeum, with the aſteriſks and obeliſks of Origen as far as they could be recovered. The whole of the Septuagint was prepared for the preſs by Grabe, but he only lived to edit the firſt and fourth volumes. The ſecond was edited by Francis Lee, M.D., and the third by W. Wigan, S.T.D. The Prolegomena, by Dr. Grabe, contain a treaſure of ſacred criticiſm.

— ſecundum exemplar Vaticanum Romæ editum, accuratiſſime denuo recognitum, una cum ſcholiis ejuſdem editionis, variis manuſcriptorum codicum veterumque exemplarium lectionibus, &c. Summa cura edidit Lambertus Bos. 4°. Franeq. 1709

EDITIONS OF THE VULGATE LATIN BIBLE.

Biblia Latina. 2 vol. Folio. Without place or date, but printed at the preſs of Guttenberg and Fuſt at Mentz, about 1450 or 1455.
This is the firſt Bible, and the firſt book that was printed with metal types. It is alſo one of the moſt beautiful ſpecimens of typography, ſhowing that at once the art of printing attained its higheſt perfection. A copy having been firſt diſcovered in the library of Cardinal Mazarine, it is known as the Mazarine Bible. It is printed in two columns of forty-two lines each to a full page, with the exception of the firſt eight, which have forty lines, and of the ninth and tenth, which have forty-one. Vol. 1 contains 324 folios, and Vol. 2, 317. At Gaignat's ſale, a copy printed on vellum ſold for 2100

Biblia integra Veteris et Novi Teſtamenti. Folio.

Coloniæ, ex ædibus Quentilianis, 1529

An edition very carefully corrected, and ornamented with well-executed wood-engravings.

Biblia Latina, emendata, ſtudio et opera R. Stephani. Large folio.

Par. R. Stephanus, 1538–40

Beautifully printed. Other editions by R. Stephanus:—folio, 1528; folio, 1532; 8°., 1534; folio, 1546; 8°., 1555.

This latter is the firſt edition in which the entire Bible is divided into verſes as now in uſe. In the Old Teſt. it chiefly follows the diviſion that had been introduced by Pagninus, in his tranſlation 1527.

Biblia Sacra. 2 vol. Large 8°.

Paris, ex off. R. Stephani, 1545

A very ſcarce and beautiful edition, printed with a ſmall but diſtinct type, in two columns: one containing the Vulgate verſion, the other the Zurich verſion, according to the edition of 1543. In the margin are the various readings and the notes of Vatablus, reſpecting which, ſee under Commentaries. Reprinted 1557. The work was cenſured by the theologians of Paris, to which Stephen replied in the following work,—

Ad cenſuras theologorum Pariſienſium quibus Biblia à Roberto Stephano typographio regio excuſa calumnioſe notarunt ejuſdem R. Stephani reſponſio. 8°.

R. Steph. 1552

An expurgated edition was publiſhed at Salamanca, 1584, 2 vol. folio.

Biblia Latina. 3 vol. Folio.

Lyon, S. Gryphius, 1550

Diſtinguiſhed by its excellent typography.

Biblia Latina. Folio. Lugd. J. Torneſius, 1556

Well printed, and ornamented with plates from the Quadrins of C. Paradin.

— à Sixto V. recognita et approbata. 3 parts in 1 vol. Folio.

Romæ, ex typographica Apoſtol. Vatic. 1590

A very rare edition, having been carefully ſuppreſſed, on account of the numerous errors found in it, although Pope Sixtus had pronounced it to be the ſtandard by which all future editions were to be printed. Some copies were corrected by having printed ſlips paſted over the errors. Copies have been ſold at fifty guineas, and on large paper at 71*l.*

— Clementis VIII. auctoritate recognita et recuſa. Folio.

Romæ, ex typogr. Apoſtolica Vaticana, 1592

This edition has become the authentic text of all ſubſequent editions. Ff. 6, including two titles, pp. 1131, and an appendix, pp. 23. Copies on large paper have been ſold for 26*l.* 5*s.*, Hibbert; and 42*l.*, Butler.

Along with the preceding edition, it has given riſe to the following works:—

Comment. in IV. Evangelia, 5. Biblia Polyg. Waltoni, 6

James, Thomas, D.D. Bellum Papale, ſive concordia diſcors Sixti V. et Clementis VIII. circa Hieronymianam editionem. Præterea in quibuſdam locis gravioribus habetur comparatio utriuſque editionis cum poſtrema et ultima Lovanienſium. 4°. Lond. 1600

Reprinted 1841. 12°.

— Defence of the Bellum Papale. A Treatiſe, &c.

Bukentop, Henricus de. Lux de luce, libri tres, in quorum primo ambiguæ locutiones, in ſecundo variæ ac dubiæ lectiones quæ in Vulgata Latina S. Scripturæ editione occurrunt, ex originalium linguarum textibus illuſtrantur. In tertio agitur de editione Sixti V. facta anno 1590 multaque alia tractantur. 4°. Brux. 1710

— 4°. Romæ ex typ. Apoſtolica Vaticana, 1593

As this third edition of the Vatican Vulgate contains new variations, it is ſought after. Ff. 10, pp. 1088. Ff. 20 numbered, and 18 not numbered. It was well reprinted, in ſmall 4°. 1598.

Biblia Latina. Folio. With engravings. Venet. E. Deuchenius, 1608. 3 parts in 1 vol. 4°. Moguntiæ, J. Albinus, &c., 1609

A remarkable edition, for 140 vignettes, by Théod. de Bry, with which it is ornamented.

— Sm. 12°. Col. Agrip. B. Gualterus, 1630

Called the Bible of the Biſhops. Well-printed copies, in good condition, are ſought after. An "Index Biblicus," placed at the end, is ſometimes wanting. The editions from the ſame preſs, of 1647 and 1658, ſmall 8°., are alſo eſteemed.

— 8°. Antv. ex officina Plantiniana, 1628

— 8 vol. Folio. Par. è typog. Reg. 1642

Well executed, but ſells at a low price. An edition from the ſame preſs, 2 vol. 4°. 1653, is handſome.

— juſſu cleri Gallicani edita. 8 vol. 12°. Par. A. Vitré, 1652

A good edition. Vitré alſo printed the following editions, —Folio, with notes by Cl. Lancelot, 1662; and 4°. 1666, much eſteemed. Some copies have added to them "Tabulæ Sacræ Geographicæ."

— [juſſu Ducis de Richelieu edita.] 3 vol. in 1. Very ſm. 8°. Par. S. Martin, 1656

A beautiful edition, in a very ſmall type. Ff. 14, pp. 434, and 417, in Old Teſt., and pp. 230, New Teſt., with an "Index Biblicus," Ff. 28. The New Teſt. was reprinted in 1657.

— 3 parts in 1 vol. 12°. Par. F. Couſtelier, 1664

A handſome edition.

— 6 vol. 24°. Colon. Agr. B. ab Egmond, 1670

This beautiful edition is ſaid to be from the preſs of the Elzevirs, and that they and Blaeu ſometimes printed under the imprint of Coloniæ Agrippinæ books which they iſſued for Roman Catholics. In this way were printed, one in the ſame form, with the verſes diſtinguiſhed, in 1679; alſo, 6 vol. 24°., 1639–46–47; 8 vol. 12°., 1666; and in one volume, ſmall 8°., 1682, the moſt beautiful of all the editions in this form.

— 7 vol. 24°. Par. F. Leonard, 1725

A good edition, in a large type.

— cum univerſis Franc. Vatabli et variorum interpretum annotationibus. Latina interpretatio duplex eſt: altera vetus, altera nova. Editio poſtrema multo quam antehac emendatior et auctior. 2 vol. Folio. Par. 1729–45

The verſio vetus is the Vulgate, the verſio nova is Pagninus'. Vol. 1 of this elegantly printed edition contains Chronologia ſacra, Tabulæ geographicæ, &c.

— 7 or 8 vol. 18°. Par. Vincent. 1741

— cum ſelectis annotationibus, &c., illuſtrata J. B. Du Hamel. Folio. Par. 1706

The notes of this edition are eſteemed. It was reprinted, folio, Louv. 1740; 2 vol. folio, Madr. 1767; in 1783 and 1790; 2 vol. 4°., at Baſſano, 1794.

— ad inſtitutionem Delphini. 2 vol. Large 4°. Par. F. A. Didot, 1785

Biblia Latina, ex Hebræo, per Xantem Pagninum, cum præf. et ſchol. Mich. Villanovani [Serveti]. Folio. Lugd. H. à Porta, 1542

Pagninus's verſion is very literal. This edition was ſuppreſſed on account of the notes which it contains of Servetus, under the aſſumed name of Villanovanus. Pagninus's verſion was firſt printed, ſmall folio, at Lyons, 1527. It was the firſt edition divided into verſes, which were more fully developed by Stephens, in his edition of 1555.

— ex Hebræo, tranſlata in ſermonem Lat. [à Leone Juda, Theod. Bibliandro, P. Cholino, &c.] Folio. Tiguri, Froſchov. 1543

This is the firſt edition of the Zurich Bible. It is beautiful and rare.

— 2 vol. Folio. R. Stephanus, 1556–57

Containing the Vulgate. The verſion of the Old Teſt. in this edition is that of Pagninus, and the New Teſt. is that of Theodore Beza, which latter appeared here for the firſt time.

— ex Sebastiani Castellionis interpretatione ejuſque poſtrema recognitione, cum annotationibus ejuſdem. Folio. Franc. 1697

Caſtellio's aim was to render the Scriptures into elegant Latin like the ancient claſſics.

The work was originally publiſhed 1551. Republiſhed, with the author's laſt corrections, folio, Baſil. 1573, a beautiful edition and generally preferred. The verſion has been often printed, 4 vol. 12°. Lond. 1726, Lipſ. 1738, &c.

— ab Imm. Tremellio et Fr. Junio. Folio. Hanov. 1624

The beſt edition of this verſion ſo often reprinted. It is ſtill held in great eſteem for its ſimplicity, perſpicuity, and fidelity. The tranſlation of the New Teſtament is by Beza. Neat editions in 12°. were printed by Blaeu at Amſterdam, 1631, 1633, 1639, 1648, 1651, &c., and numerous editions were ſubſequently printed at London and other places.

printed at Worms by Peter Schoeffer, 1525. The firſt printed edition of the New Teſtament in Engliſh. Tranſlated by William Tyndall. Only one perfect copy is known to exiſt. It is preſerved in the Baptiſt Muſeum at Briſtol. An exact reprint of this intereſting volume was executed at London, 1836, with an introductory memoir of Tyndall, and collations of the text with the reviſed edition of 1534. Another edition of the ſame verſion was printed in the ſame year in 4°. begun at Cologne by P. Quentel, and finiſhed at Worms, by Peter Schoeffer; but a fragment only remains of it, which is now in the Grenville Library in the Britiſh Muſeum. The Goſpels of St. Matthew and St. Mark, tranſlated by Tyndall, were alſo printed in this year; but no fragment is known to remain. The New Teſtament was reprinted in 1526, 1527, 1528, and 1530, but no copies of theſe editions remain.

— Tyndale's tranſl. altered by George Joye. 16°. Antwerp, 1534

— dylygently corrected and compared with the Greke, by William Tyndale. 12°. Antw. by Marten Emperowr, 1534

Three copies of this reviſed edition by Tyndall are in the Britiſh Muſeum; one on ordinary white paper, one on yellow paper, and a third ſplendidly printed on vellum, and adorned with illuminations. It is ſuppoſed that this laſt was executed for Queen Anne Boleyn. Six different reprints are ſuppoſed to have been made in this year.

The Bible; faythfully and truly tranſlated out of Douche and Latyn into Engliſhe, by Myles Coverdale. Folio. Prynted in the yeare of our Lorde, 1535

The firſt printed edition of the whole Bible in Engliſh. Suppoſed to have been executed at Zurich by Chr. Froſchover. Only one perfect title-page is known, that of the Earl of Leiceſter's copy, and only two copies are known to be otherwiſe perfect. (At Denyer's ſale, a copy, imperfect, ſold for 39*l.*; Dent, title and two leaves, fac-ſimile, 89*l.* 5*s.* Heber, wanting ſeveral leaves, 63*l.*) This intereſting volume was reprinted by Bagſter, 4°. EDITIONS OF THE AUTHORIZED VERSION.

The Holy Bible, conteyning the Old Teſtament and the New. Newly tranſlated out of the originall tongues, and with the former translations diligently compared and reviſed by his majeſtie's ſpeciall commandment. Black lett. Large folio. Lond. 1611

The firſt edition of the preſent tranſlation. An exact reprint of it, page for page, was made at the Clarendon preſs in 1833, 4°.

A ſecond ed. appeared in the ſame year (1611), the type of which is larger than that of the firſt. In the firſt ed. the Pſalms commence on ſign. Kk. 1; in the ſecond, on Bbb. 4.

— 4°. Lond. by R. Barker, 1612

The firſt quarto ed.

— Folio. Black letter. Lond. 1613

New Teſtament. 4°. Edin. by the heirs of Andro Hart, 1628

The firſt edition printed in Scotland of any part of King James's verſion.

— Folio. Camb. Tho. and John Buck, 1629

A beautiful edition, in which the errors of the firſt and intermediate editions were corrected. The title-page is engraved on copper.

Bible. 8°. Lond. 1632

At or about this time the King's printers had made a ſcandalous miſtake in leaving out the word not in the ſeventh commandment; on this being diſcovered by Abp. Laud, the whole impreſſion was called in, and the printers deeply fined. See Heylin's Life of Laud, 215.

— 8°. Edin. by the printers to the King's moſt excellent Majeſtie, 1633

The firſt edition printed in Scotland of the entire Bible in the authorized verſion. In ſome copies of the New Teſtament engravings, ſuppoſed to be impreſſions from Bolſwert's "Imagines Vitæ Jeſu Chriſti," were inſerted, which gave great offence. Wodrow called them "ſuch abominable pictures that horrible impiety ſtares through them."

— Folio. Camb. by T. Buck and R. Daniel, 1638

This handſome edition is ſaid to have been reviſed, by the King's command, by ſeveral learned men of Cambridge, Dr. Ward, Dr. Goad, Mr. Boyſe, Mr. Mead, &c. It is ſuppoſed to be the firſt edition in which the error occurred in Acts, 6. 3, where it reads "whom ye may appoint,"

— 4°. With marginal notes, ſhowing Scripture to be the beſt interpreter of Scripture, by John Canne. Amſt. 1644

A very ſcarce edition. The references are generally judicious. Reprinted in 8°. 1662, 1682; 12°. 1698; 4°. 1700. Several of the editions publiſhed afterwards are full of errors, and crowded with references with which Canne had no concern.

— 4°. With the Genevan notes. Lond. 1649

— 24°. By John Field, printer to the Parliament, 1653

Called the Pearl Bible. It is diſgraced by numerous errors. An imitation of it was made in Holland, 1658, but the genuine edition is known by having the firſt four Pſalms on one page. The Bibles printed during the Commonwealth were in general ſo full of errors that the Committee on Religion made a regular report of it to Parliament in 1656.

COMMENTARIES, &c. ON THE OLD AND NEW TESTAMENT.

Of Commentaries, Dr. Campbell remarks: "I am not of opinion that the ſubject can be ſo eaſily exhauſted as ſome may ſuppoſe: I do not even think it poſſible for the richeſt imagination to preclude all ſcope for further remark, or for the greateſt acuteneſs to ſuperſede all future criticiſm."—Pref. to the Four Goſpels.

"Some of the interpreters are more eſpecially eminent for their authority and antiquity; as—the Fathers, Ambroſe, Auguſtine, Bernard, Chryſoſtom, the Cyrils, Euſebius, Gregory the Great, Gregory Nyſſen, Hieronymus, Hilary, Origen, Theodoret, Theophylact, Œcumenius.

"Amongſt the later writers, ſome are eminent for their orthodox, ſound judgment, and proper, uſeful matter—ſo the Proteſtant commentators in general—as Alſted, Baldwin, Brentius, Bucer, Bullinger, Calvin, Chemnitius, Danæus, Druſius, Gerard, Hyperius, Junius, Lavater, Luther, Peter Martyr, Melanchthon, Mercer, Moller, Musculus, Pareus, Piſcator, Rivet, Rollock, Scultet, Tarnov, Zanchius, &c. More eſpecially our Engliſh divines, as—Ainſworth, Ames, Bayne, Byfield, Cartwright, Davenant, Hammond, Perkins, Sclater, Willet, &c. [Poole, Henry, Wells, Patrick, Lowth, and Whitby, Scott, Kitto].

"Amongſt the Popiſh interpreters, ſome are more eminent for their ſubtlety and rational learning in the explaining of Scripture. Such were generally thoſe ſchoolmen, who have undertaken to comment upon it, as—Albertus Magnus, Alexander de Ales, Aquinas, Bonaventure, Cajetan, Dionyſius Carthuſianus, Daza, Eſtius, Mic. de Palatio, Dominic, Soto, &c.

"Others amongſt them are eminent for ſolid, pious matter, in practical things, and points not controverſial, as—Lucas Brugenſis, Ferus, Janſenius [De Sacy, Queſnel, Calmet].

"Others of them are uſeful for their various collections and obſervations out of former writers — as many late Jeſuits and others — as à Lapide, Lorinus Maldonatus, Maſius, Pererius, Pineda, Ribera, Salmeron, Sanctius, Serrarius, Tolet, &c." [Amongſt Proteſtants, Mayer, Critici Sacri, Poole, Dodd, Hewlett, D'Oyly and Mant].—Bp. Wilkins. The names within brackets are now inſerted. Several of the writers noticed above by Bp. Wilkins have only commented on particular books of Scripture.

"Beſides theſe commentators upon the ſeveral books, there are others who have commented upon particular parcels or texts of Scripture, of which kind, the homilies of the ancient Fathers be the firſt; as thoſe of Auguſtine, Bernard, Chryſoſtom, Chryſologus, Gregory, &c."—Bp. Wilkins. Of Sermons, Bp. Wilkins remarks: "It is the common opinion that amongſt all ſuch kinds of works,

Reprinted, 6 vol. folio, Antv. 1634.

The celebrated Gloſſa Ordinaria of Walafridus Strabo, or Strabus, may be conſidered as a Catena Patrum on the Scriptures. He copies conſiderably from Rabanus Maurus, on ſome of the books. The work is valuable for giving the literal ſenſe, hiſtorical and moral. It was firſt publiſhed at Nuremberg, 1494, in 6 vol. folio, and ſeveral editions were afterwards printed. The beſt are thoſe of Douay, 1617, and Antwerp, 1634, in which the Poſtilla of De Lyra were incorporated with other additions, "forming together," ſays Calmet, "a treaſure for theologians and preachers."

The Poſtilla, or ſhort commentaries of De Lyra, are far ſuperior to the age in which he flouriſhed, and ſhow great acquaintance with the literal ſenſe of Scripture. They are eſpecially valuable for the Old Teſtament, from his ſuperior knowledge of Hebrew and the Rabbinical writers, particularly Jarchi. An edition was printed by Mentelin, in 1473, in 4 vol. folio, and many other editions were printed. The beſt are thoſe which accompany the Gloſſa of Strabo. The Poſtilla are alſo to be found in the Biblia Maxima of De la Haye.

Hugo de S. Caro. Opera omnia, cum indice generali. 8 vol. Folio. Venetiis, 1754

Conſiſting of commentaries on the Old and New Teſtament, which are much eſteemed, particularly thoſe on the Pſalms. Several previous editions were publiſhed, Col. Agripp. 1621; Lugd. 1645, and earlier editions in 5 and 6 vols.

Dionyſius Carthuſianus. Commentarius in Vetus et Novum Teſtamentum. 12 vol. Folio. Coloniæ et alibi, 1532, &c.

Without much ſecular learning or much criticiſm, Dionyſius the Carthuſian has great diſcernment, knowledge, and piety, with an eaſy ſtyle. There were various editions of the different volumes of his commentaries printed in the ſixteenth century.

On various books of Scripture.

Sa, Emmanuel. Notationes in totam Scripturam ſacram. 4°. Antv. 1598

Uſeful ſhort notes, often reprinted. They were added to an edition of the Scholia of Mariana, 2 vol. folio, 1624, and they form part of the Biblia Magna of De la Haye.

Mariana, J. Scholia brevia in V. et N. Teſt. Folio. Madriti, 1619

Alſo at Paris, 1620. An edition was printed along with the annotations of Sa, by Plantin, 1624, at Antwerp, 2 vol. folio.

Menochius, J. S. Commentarii totius S. Scripturæ, ex optimis quibuſque authoribus collecti, editio noviſſima; huic diligenter recognitæ acceſſit ſupplementum, quo continetur quidquid ad plenam ſacræ Scripturæ intelligentiam facilè parandam deſiderabatur. 2 vol. Folio. Par. 1719

Short but ſolid explanations of Scripture. According to Dupin and Father Simon, Menochius gives in a few words more than others do in lengthened commentaries. They are inſerted in the Biblia Magna and Maxima of De la Haye.

Firſt publiſhed with the Scripture text, 3 vol. folio, Col. Agr. 1630; without the text, 2 vol. folio, 1679, 1683, and 1693. The beſt is that of 1719, which was much improved by Peter de Tournemine.

Tirinus, J. Commentarius in V. et N. Teſt. 3 vol. Folio. Antv. 1632

Reprinted without the text of Scripture in 2 vol. folio, Antv. 1645, and often afterwards. The work is inſerted in the Biblia Magna and Biblia Maxima. The Prolegomena on ancient weights and meaſures are to be found in Walton's Polyglott.

Tirinus in his commentary has collected and abridged what he conſidered beſt in other commentators, particularly Cornelius à Lapide.

Gordon, James. Commentaria in Sacra Biblia. 3 vol. Folio. Paris, 1636

This commentary, which is much in the ſtyle of Tirinus, is not much eſteemed. Only one edition has been printed.

Gagnæus, J. Scholia in Novum Teſtamentum. Biblia Magna

Biblia Magna commentariorum literalium, Joannis Gagnæi, Guillelmi Eſtii, Emmanuelis Sa, Joannis Menochii, et Jacobi Tirini. Adeò eruditè et integrè S. tion. It is preferred to the Biblia Maxima of the ſame editor, as it is more correct, better arranged, and not ſo voluminous.

Biblia Maxima verſionum ex linguis Orientalibus pluribus ſacris MSS. codicibus innumeris ferè, et veteribus patribus et interpretibus orthodoxis collectarum, earumque concordia cum Vulgata, cum expoſitione literali, nec non annotationibus Nicolai De Lyra, et aliorum; additis ampliſſimis prolegomenis, et chronico ſacro: ſtudio et opera J. DE LA HAYE. 19 vol. Folio. Pariſiis, 1660

This edition is not ſo well edited as the Biblia Magna. It does not contain the commentaries of Sa, and only gives the part of Gagnæus on the Apocalypſe; but it has, in addition, the Poſtilla of De Lyra, the notes of De la Haye himſelf, and the various readings of the Oriental and of ſome of the Latin verſions of Scripture.

Biblia Sacra, cum duplici tranſlatione, et ſcholiis FRANCISCI VATABLI; nunc denuò à plurimis, quibus ſcatebant, erroribus repurgatis, doctiſſimorum theologorum, tàm almæ univerſitatis Salmanticenſis, quàm Complutenſis judicio; ac ſanctæ et generalis Inquiſitionis juſſu. 2 vol. Folio. Salmant. 1584

The annotations of Francis Vatablus were written from his lectures, as profeſſor in the Univerſity of Paris, by one of his ſcholars (Bertin le Comte), and publiſhed by Robert Stephens in his edition of the Latin Bible, 1545, and again in 1557. Stephens was accuſed of mixing Proteſtant ſentiments with them; and the doctors of Salamanca, in their celebrated and rare edition, 1584, profeſs to have again rendered them proper for Roman Catholics. The work has been often reprinted. The annotations of Vatablus are inſerted in the CRITICI SACRI.

Clario, Bp. Annotationes in Vetus et Novum Teſtamentum. Critici Sacri

The annotations of Clarius were printed in folio at Venice 1542, and again 1557. Some parts of them having been placed in the Index, an expurgated edition was publiſhed in 1564. He has left nothing on the Apocalypſe. His notes on the Old Teſtament are, in a great meaſure, taken from Sebaſtian Munſter.

Lucas Brugenſis, F. Notationes in Sacra Biblia, quibus variantia diſcrepantibus loca exemplaribus ſummo ſtudio diſcutiuntur. 4°. Antv. 1580

Judicious and well-conſidered notes. They are inſerted in the Critici Sacri.

Biblia Latina Theologorum Lovanienſum. Antv. Plantin. 1580. Reprinted, 1582–83–84–87, and 1590

This Bible is accompanied with various readings and good notes by Lucas Brugenſis, Molanus, and others. They are to be found in the Critici Sacri, and they have been much commended by Mill, Simon, John Fabricius, and other critics.

Du Hamel, J. B. Biblia Sacra, Vulgatæ editionis, una cum ſelectis annotationibus, prolegomenis, &c. 2 vol. Folio. Pariſiis, 1706

Beautifully printed, but incorrect. The chronological tables by Tournemine are well executed.

Eſtius, Guil. Annotationes in præcipua difficiliora S. Scripturæ loca. Folio. Duaci, 1628

Firſt publiſhed, 4°., 1621. The above edition was enlarged from the author's notes. Reprinted, 1652, 1663, and 1683. They are inſerted in the Biblia Magna and Maxima; but they are inferior to the author's expoſition of the Epiſtles.

De Sacy, L. I. Le Maiſtre de. La Sainte Bible, traduite en François, avec l'explication du ſens littéral et du ſens ſpirituel tirée des SS. Pères et des auteurs eccléſiaſtiques. 32 vol. 8°. Par. 1692

This admirable commentary is eſpecially valuable for unfolding the ſpiritual ſenſe of Scripture. The above is the firſt and beſt edition; the reprints are very numerous, both in a complete ſtate and abridged. The tranſlation has been very frequently printed ſeparately, and has been much approved.

Guion, Madame. Les livres de l'Ancien et du Nouveau Teſtament, avec des explications et des réflexions qui regardent la vie intérieure. 20 vol. 12°. Col. 1713–15

Calmet, A. Commentaire littéral ſur tous les livres de l'Ancien et du Nouveau Teſtament. 8 vol. in 9. Folio. Par. 1724

One of the beſt commentaries which have ever been written; it diſplays immenſe learning, good ſenſe, ſound judgment, and deep piety. It contains the Latin Vulgate and a French verſion in parallel columns, with a commentary, literal, hiſtorical, and critical, on the hiſtorical books, and literal and moral on the others; the prefaces, diſſertations, and other illuſtrations, are full of intereſting information. There is an edition in 26 vol. 4°. and the diſſertations have been publiſhed ſeparately.

Bible de Vence. Sainte Bible, en Latin et en François, avec des notes littérales, critiques et hiſtoriques, des préfaces et diſſertations, tirées du commentaire de Dom Auguſtin Calmet, de M. l'Abbé de Vence, et des auteurs les plus célèbres; pour faciliter l'intelligence de l'Ecriture Sainte. Ouvrage enrichi de cartes géographiques et de figures. Seconde édition revue, corrigée et augmentée de diverſes notes et diſſertations nouvelles. 17 vol. 4°. Par. 1767–73

A fifth edition was publiſhed in 27 vol. 8°. at Paris, 1827–34, reviſed and augmented, with numerous notes by M. Drach, a converted Jewiſh rabbi.

Commentaries by Proteſtants.

Pellican, Conrad. Commentaria Bibliorum. 10 vol. Folio. Tiguri, 1532–42

Pellican gives the Latin Vulgate retouched, and rendered more conformable to the Hebrew and Greek; his commentaries are excellent for elucidating the literal and grammatical ſenſe of Scripture, and for throwing light on many obſcure paſſages. He did not write on Jonah, Zechariah, or the Apocalypſe. The commentary on the Apocalypſe, by S. Meyer, in which Pellican aſſiſted, is often added. The work thus complete (in 10 vol. folio) is very ſcarce.

Firſt printed at Geneva, 1575–79; afterwards reviſed by Junius, and often reprinted.

The Bible and Holy Scriptures. Tranſlated, with moſt profitable annotations. Folio. Gen. 1561–62

Theſe annotations have had numerous editions, along with the Genevan verſion, and they were added to ſeveral editions of the tranſlation now in uſe.

The Holy Bible, according to the authorized verſion, with ſhort notes by ſeveral learned and pious reformers, with additional notes and differtations [by the Rev. Thomas Webſter, B.D.]. 4°. Lond. 1810

In this edition the notes on the Old Teſtament are from the Genevan Bible, and thoſe on the New are tranſlated from Beza.

Mayer, John, D.D. A commentary upon the whole Old and New Teſtament; wherein the divers tranſlations and expoſitions, literal and myſtical, of all the famous commentators, both ancient and modern, are propounded, examined, and judged of, for the full ſatisfaction of the ſtudious reader, and many moſt genuine notions inſerted for edification in the grace of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt. 6 vol. Folio, and in 1 vol. 4°. Lond. 1653, &c.

A judicious and able digeſt of former commentators, with the author's own notes, forming one of the moſt full and ſatisfactory of Engliſh commentaries. Exceedingly rare.

Trapp, John. A commentary, or expoſition upon the books of the Old and New Teſtament. 5 vol. Folio. Lond. 1654, &c.

A very curious work; illuſtrating Scripture by numerous anecdotes. It contains many uſeful remarks, with much quaint wit. Very rare.

A critical commentary and paraphraſe on the Old and New Teſtament and the Apocrypha, by Patrick, Lowth, Arnald, Whitby, and Lowman. Corrected by the Rev. J. R. Pitman. 6 vol. Royal 4°. Lond. 1822

A work of ſtandard authority. An edition in a ſmaller type has been publiſhed in 4 vol. imperial 8°. Lond. 1853, and other dates, with the Sacred text printed at large, which was not given in former editions. The various editions in 6 vol. folio, are eſteemed for the large type in which they are printed; none of them contain Lowman, and only a few are found with Arnald, making in all 7 vol. folio.

Hallet, Joſeph. A paſſage in Bp. Patrick's commentaries examined. A Free and Impartial Study, &c. 1. 113

COMMENTARIES, &c. ON THE BOOK OF ECCLESIASTES.

Pineda, in the preface to his Commentary, treats of the author of this book, of its ſubject and order, and of the manner of explaining it. Calmet, in his preface, proves that Solomon was the author. Noel Alexander, in his ſixth diſſertation on the fifth age of the world, ſhows that the heathen have drawn from it.

COMMENTARIES, &c. ON THE SONG OF SOLOMON.

Alexander, Noel. De Cantico Canticorum.
Hiſt. Eccleſ. 3. 322

In this diſſertation the author ſhows that the Song of Solomon is an epithalamium of Jeſus Chriſt, compoſed under the inſpiration of the Holy Spirit.

Whiſton, W. A ſupplement to Mr. Whiſton's late Eſſay, towards reſtoring the true Text of the Old Teſtament. Proving, that the Canticles is not a ſacred book of the Old Teſtament; nor was originally eſteemed as ſuch, either by the Jewiſh or the Chriſtian Church. 8°.
Lond. 1723

Itchiner, W. A defence of the canon of the Old Teſtament: or, an anſwer to Mr. Whiſton's ſupplement to his late Eſſays; in which he attempts to prove, that the Canticles is not a ſacred book of the Old Teſtament, &c. 8°. Lond. 1723

A moſt comfortable expoſition of the laſt and moſt difficult part of the prophecie of Daniel, from the 26 verſe of the II. chapter to the end of the XII. chapter, wherein the reſtoring of the Jews, and their calling to the faith of Chriſt after the utter overthrow of their three laſt enemies, is ſet forth in lively colours. 4°. Lond. 1644

Parker, Thomas. The viſions and prophecies of Daniel expounded; wherein the miſtakes of former interpreters are modeſtly diſcovered, and the true meaning of the text made plain by the words and circumſtances of it. The ſame alſo illuſtrated by clear inſtances taken out of hiſtories which relate the events of time myſtically foretold by the holy prophet. Amongſt other things of note, touching the two witneſſes, the New Jeruſalem, the Thouſand Years, &c., here is propounded a new way for the finding out of the determinate time ſignified by Daniel in his ſeventy weeks; when it did begin, and when we are to expect the end thereof. 4°. Lond. 1646

Danæus, L. Comment. in xii. prophetas minores. 8°. Gen. 1586; 8°. 1594

— A fruitful commentarie upon the twelve ſmall prophets, briefe, plaine, and eaſie, going over the ſame verſe by verſe, and ſhewing everywhere the method, points of doctrine, and figures of rhetoricke, with very neceſſarie fore-notes for the underſtanding both of theſe, and alſo all other the prophets. The text of the prophets, together with that of the quotations omitted by the author, faithfully ſupplied by the tranſlatour, and marginal notes very plentiful and profitable, ſo that it may in manner be counted a new booke. Written in Latine and tranſlated by John Stockwood, miniſter at Tunbridge. 4°. Lond. 1594
